

Frog Lifecycle Song

(To the tune of "Row, Row, Row Your Boat")

Eggs, eggs, tiny eggs
That's how frogs begin.
In a clump, a slimy clump
Floating with their kin.

Swim, swim, swim-y, swim
That's what tadpoles do.
Eating algae as they grow,
They really like that goo.

Legs, legs, brand new legs
Froglets hop to shore.
Catching flies all day long,
There's always plenty more.

Chug, chug, chug-a-rum,
Now they are full grown.
They find a mate and lay more eggs
To start a family of their own.
